

The Production Book

Kate McCurdy

The Production Book, published annually, is the most comprehensive film and television directory for crew, suppliers and production information in Australia.

Known as the 'industry bible', it is spiral bound, tabbed and indexed so that you can find what you're looking for quickly and easily.

The Production Book contains over 16,000 listing spanning 230 categories, including Actors, Directors and Agents, Book Publishers and Bookshops, Distributors, Libraries (Public, Sound, Stills Photographs, Stock footage), Postproduction, Researchers, Television Production Houses, Visual Effects, Writers and Wranglers. It also includes other useful information all in the one place, such as sunrise and sunset times, calendars, distances between cities, location contracts, international time zones, and film and television production lists.

The Production Book is a must-have resource for creative professionals - and those studying to be - in the film, television, media, advertising and multimedia industries in Australia and overseas.

The Production Book is also online as a searchable directory available through subscription to the website.

The 2009 edition is available for pre-order through The Production Book website.
